

Narbonne Honor Student Wins Top Award at Southland Science Fair

A Narbonne High School honor student, who plans a career in the field of science, has walked off with a top award in the Southern California Science Fair being held this week at the Ventura County Fair Grounds in Ventura.

Lee Neidengard, a 17-year-old senior, won first place in the event, which is sponsored by the Southern California Industry Education Council and is one of the largest of its kind in the Southland.

He is the son of C. A. Neidengard, of 4068 Hawthorne Ave., Palos Verdes Estates.

HIS ENTRY in the biological science category of the Senior Division won a first place award of $250.

The annual event attracts the twenty top exhibits from each of five regional fairs: Orange County Science Fair, San Fernando Valley Science Fair, San Gabriel Valley Science Fair, South Central Science Fair, and Tri-County Science Fair, which includes contestants from Ventura, Santa Barbara, and San Luis Obispo counties.

MAURINE L. MOORE, general chairman of the Southern California Fair, said the event is held to stimulate students in the study of science, stress the understanding of fundamental science principles, to give students and teachers an opportunity to see what others are doing in science, to encourage educators in their guidance of science students, and to provide proper recognition of young scientists.

Judging was on the basis of creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity, and dramatic value.

NEIDENGARD'S experiment was labeled, "The Effect of Hypothermia and Hyperthermia on the Rate of Antibody Production Against Human Serum in Mice."

In the course of the experiment he inoculated four mice with human serum which had protein matter foreign to the blood system of the mice in order to see what effect this had on raising and lowering their internal body temperature and their rate of antibody production to combat the injections.

HE IS A member of the school's varsity track team, vice president of the local chapter of the National Math Group and a member of the California Scholarship Federation.

He has been accepted by Stanford, Cal-Tech and MIT for college work but hasn't decided so far on which to attend.

Chemistry Instructor Nominated For Science Foundation Program

James A. Campbell of the El Camino College chemistry faculty will participate in his third National Science Foundation summer program when he attends the Institute for College Chemistry Teachers at the University of North Carolina, June 12 to July 21.

The North Carolina institute is designed to improve subject matter competence of participating teachers, to strengthen the capacity of these teachers to motivate students to consider careers in science, and to bring teachers into personal contact with the highly productive scientists who make up the staff of the institute.

OUTSTANDING scientists will lead the institute sessions devoted to inorganic chemistry, modern developments in analytic chemistry, bio-chemistry, bio-physics, gaseous diffusion, organic chemistry with emphasis on organo-metals, physical chemistry, polymer chemistry, and radio chemistry.

In addition seminars and group discussion of problems of chemical education as well as experimental work and glass blowing opportunities will be provided.

CAMPELL participated in the 1958 NSF Summer Institute at Montana State College in Bozeman, Mont., and in the 1959 NSF Summer Research Participation Program under the direction of Dr. Ronald F.

Brown, University of Southern California. Campbell is completing his fourth year as a member of the El Camino College chemistry faculty.

He came to El Camino in the fall of 1957 after teaching high school chemistry at Dorsey High School in Los Angeles for three years.

HE OBTAINED his Bachelor's degree at the University of Illinois in 1948 and his Master's degree at the University of Southern California in 1956.

Freddie Gray's orchestra will perform with other entertainment being provided by three of North High School's students. Marlene Norsoph, Janet Perry and Merry Deasy will sing to Sax-on dates.

Refreshments will be served in the North High School Patio which is being converted into a garden.

The sixth Annual Prom is sponsored by the Junior Class with Carol Robinson serving as the chairman. Committee heads include decorations, Bob Graham; publicity, Diane Gill; prom bids, Kip Whelan; food, Katy Keays; entertainment, Mike Tubbs; and clean-up, Keith Klute.
